

HAMPTON HILL PARISH MAGAZINE.

HAMPTON HILL,

September 1st, 1920.

MY DEAR PEOPLE,

I was glad to see so many of you present at the C.E.T.S. gathering on July 21st. Unfortunately the weather prevented our meeting in the Vicarage field, but a very interesting time was spent in the Schools, and a stirring address was given by the Diocesan Secretary, Rev. H. Pearson. Mr. Jordan, having resigned the Secretaryship, the opportunity was taken of presenting to him and Mrs. Jordan gifts of appreciation of many years' faithful work.

The posts and chains have been placed round the War Memorial, which is now complete; they add greatly to the beauty and dignity of the whole structure. I am glad that such loving care is being taken of the grass, flowers, &c.

I shall soon be calling a Meeting of the young people to re-organize the "Crusaders," which is a senior branch of the Band of Hope. I hope parents will encourage their lads and girls to join. The Meetings are held in the Church Room on Mondays, at 7.30.

I hear that the Mothers had a very pleasant gathering on July 28th. I am sorry not to have been there, but the meeting was a great success.

The Day Schools re-open for the Autumn term on Monday, August 30th.

Yours very truly,

R. COAD PRYOR.

Children's Column.

DEAR CHILDREN,

Yet another Scholarship! Kathleen Lambourne has been successful and we congratulate her and the Girls' School on this achievement.

I have received a very kind letter from the Teddington Cottage Hospital thanking you for the eggs, fruit, flowers, &c., which you sent after the Children's Service on July 25th. These gifts were much appreciated. Miss Paine and other teachers, very kindly conveyed your offertory to the Hospital.

We are, as you know, going to Windsor for our annual excursion. A book prize will be given for the best account of the day's outing.

This month the prize is won by Philip Carpenter.

Your affectionate friend,

THE VICAR.

ESSAY.

"What I should like to be when I am grown up."

Philip Carpenter, Age 8, Cornwall Lodge.

When I am grown up I would like to be a Soldier and go out to the battle field and fight for my country, and be willing to die for her if it were necessary. And while I am a young boy I would like to sleep out of doors in a tent, and shoot a gun, and ride on a pony; and as I get bigger I will ride upon a horse and learn how to use a sword. Why I want to be a soldier is that he does a lot of exercise and drilling, and he visits many strange countries and hears many languages. When I am a Soldier I would like very much to go to Malta. My father has been a sailor and he went to Malta, and he told me that if ever I was a Soldier or a Sailor that if I had the chance I was to go to Malta because it is so interesting. And also I would like to go to India, and perhaps I will be able to shoot lions, tigers, panthers, and other wild animals from the top of an elephant's back. Soldiers are necessary to keep the enemies out of England, therefore it is an honourable work.

"Don't pull me up!" cried a handsome Scotch thistle to the farmer, as he grasped her prickly stalk. "See, I am quite in the corner of the field, and though I am tall, I take up very little ground. There are no more of my family anywhere in sight. I am all alone in my glory." "I dare say," said the farmer, "but if I were to leave you to scatter those seeds of yours over the field, I wonder how many of you there would be next year. No, no, my friend; you're comparatively harmless now, and now is the time for you to go."

WHY I ABSTAIN.—The following is condensed from a boy's essay on total abstinence:—I abstain from alcoholic drink because, if I would excel as a cricketer, Grace says, "Abstain"; as a walker, Weston says "Abstain"; as an oarsman, Hanlon says, "Abstain"; as a swimmer, Webb says, "Abstain"; as an orator, Bright says, "Abstain"; as a Missionary, Livingstone says, "Abstain." Asylums, prisons, workhouses, repeat the cry "Abstain." That boy will get to "the top."
